

Paragraph
A woman who has borne five children, raised them, and married them off, thinks she is a success, and she is a success; but so is her husband. — William Feather in Imperial Type Metal Magazine.

On a Rainy Day
Why is it that a fellow who's going to take you on a tour of an outdoor construction job withholds the invitation until a rainy day? B. W. Edwards stuck his head in the door of The Star building this morning and said he was ready to show me "Little Millwood" — the dyke that Hempstead County Hunting Club is building to improve the duck-hunting situation at Grassy Lake. . . . Basil was only kidding. He couldn't get out to the job today with anything less than a caterpillar tractor.

Tail-End of Gulf Storm
This is our second consecutive day of rain and still more may be expected according to our wire reports at noon. A tropical storm is blowing in from the Gulf and heading through Louisiana and Mississippi. Arkansas is catching the western fringe of the disturbance.

Chicken or Egg?
Barometers are an old-time hobby which is returning nowadays to many offices and homes. I've had one at the house for a couple of years. But candor compels me to say after two years' study and research that I'm still not sure whether a fellow gets as much out of a barometer as he reads into it after listening to the weather news on the radio. Bad weather coming, you hear, and you check your barometer — and of course it has gone down since the last setting. Mine showed a drop of about four-tenths of an inch over the last 48 hours — indicating possibility of rain, maybe, but certainly no storm. It was stationary at 29.4 this morning. Of course if it fell off to 28 it would tell me something — meaning storm of hurricane proportions. I won't press the matter further.

New Test May Save Women From Surgery

By ALTON L. BLAKESLE
AP Science Reporter

CHICAGO (U.P.) — A look-see test can save many women from unnecessary surgery to remove the womb, a physician said today.
It is done with a pencil-thin instrument that permits direct vision of the interior of the womb or uterus. With light from a tiny bulb on the end of the instrument, the physician can see whether tumors are really present that call for a hysterectomy, or removal of the uterus. Photographs can be taken through it.
Hundreds of American women daily have hysterectomies. Their tumors are quite often found to be a benign or harmless kind, fibroid tumors, growing in such a way that they would not cause trouble. Many of the women are young enough still to bear children.
The unique instrument, the hysteroscope, is being shown in an exhibit at the American Medical Association annual meeting by Drs. William B. Norment and C. Henry Sikes of Greensboro, N. C.

Courts Uphold Diplomat's Firing

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The U. S. Court of Appeals today upheld the government's 1951 firing of veteran diplomat John Stewart Service, but it cleared his record of findings that there were reasonable doubts of his loyalty.
The unanimous action of a three-judge panel affirmed in all details a decision of Federal District Judge Edward M. Curren on June 30, 1955.

Former Truman Aides Convicted of Tax Fixing

ST. LOUIS (U.P.) — Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle, high officials in the Truman administration, were convicted today, by a federal jury of conspiring to fix an income tax evasion case.

They sat motionless as the verdict was read. U.S. District Judge Rubey M. Hulen set their sentencing for July 19, the same day he will hear motions which the defense said it would file for a new trial.

Connelly, 48 White House appointments secretary under former President Truman, and Caudle, 52, former Justice Department tax division head, could be sentenced to five years in prison and fined $10,000 each.

Mrs. Caudle, who has listened to testimony from the same seat in the spectators' section of the courtroom since the trial began May 7, like the defendants sat motionless as she heard the verdict.
The jury of eight men and four women, which took the case yesterday, deliberated eight hours and 43 minutes in all.
Caudle, now practicing law in his hometown of Wadesboro, N. C., and Connelly, now a public relations man in New York, were convicted of conspiring to defraud the government by trying to sidetrack criminal prosecution of Irving Sachs, a St. Louis shoe manufacturer.

Sachs eventually was indicted and pleaded guilty to evading $128,721 in taxes. He was fined $40,000 but escaped prison on the grounds of poor health.

The jury had been in deliberation only an hour and 15 minutes today. It had been sent to bed last night by Judge Hulen after deliberating seven hours and 28 minutes.

Faubus Jumps on Cherry in Matter of Job

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Gov. Orval Faubus has accused his former Democratic opponent, Francis Cherry, of supporting the Republicans in 1954, and the statement brought a prompt reply of "ridiculous" from Cherry.

Faubus, who defeated incumbent Cherry in the 1954 Democratic primary, yesterday said that Republican Pratt Remmel made a good showing in 1954 because he had support from Cherry and his associates.

The governor implied that Cherry had been rewarded with a $15,000-a-year job as a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board. Cherry was appointed to the position by President Eisenhower.

"The statement is ridiculous," Cherry said in Washington today. "There is no more truth in it than in many others Governor Faubus has made."

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said "I did not initiate the appointment. I did not know he (Cherry) was being considered until I was called by a representative of the administration and asked if I had any objections. I had none."

Faubus turned back Cherry's bid for a second term by a narrow margin in the 1954 primaries. For a while, there were reports that Cherry planned to run as an independent in the general election that year.

Mary Robert's Rhinehart, at the Age of 80, Is Developing a Case of Writer's Cramp

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (U.P.) — Mary Robert Rhinehart, nearing 80, is suffering from writer's cramp.
This comes as a terrible blow to the onetime nurse who became the most successful woman author in American history.
"I have trouble with my right hand," she said. "It's a chore for me even to write a check today. I do hope it will clear up soon. For I love to work. I'm very much at a loss now that I'm not writing."
Writer's cramp is a rare disease among modern authors. Most use typewriters, some even dictate their stories.
But Mrs. Rhinehart is a painstaking craftsman who writes three drafts of every mystery story or novel she turns out by longhand with a fountain pen she has used for 24 years.
That fountain pen is her most cherished possession. She values it even more highly than the Gainsborough and Raeburn portraits that adorn the living room of her richly furnished 17-room Fifth Avenue apartment, where she lives alone. She has three servants. She even puts the pen in a box in a bedside table when she sleeps.
"I might leave a diamond bracelet lying around," she said. "But never that pen. I've never even had to change the point in 24 years."
Still a beauty in her 80th year, Mrs. Rhinehart took up writing after the panic of 1907 wiped out the family investments and left her $12,000 in debt. She had three young sons at the time.
"I never really meant to be a writer," she said. "I never wanted a career. And if I had to start all over again today, I don't think I would."

Arkansas Broiler Production Down

LITTLE ROCK (U.P.) — Arkansas broiler chick production dropped 4 per cent during the week which ended June 9, the Crop Reporting Service said today.

A total of 2,341,000 broiler chicks were started. Eggs for broiler chicks totaled 2,978,000, a rise of 1 per cent over the previous week.

Boost Funds for Flood Work in Arkansas

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The Senate passed its version of the waterways appropriation bill yesterday adding sizeable boosts to House allotments for some projects wholly or partly in Arkansas.

The bill now goes to a Conference Committee, which will attempt to iron out differences in the House and Senate versions.

The Senate followed recommendations of its Appropriations Committee in voting 4½ million dollars for a start on an Arkansas River basin development program.

Dardanelle Dam on the Arkansas River near Dardanelle, Ark., would get $7,500,000 under the Senate action, and Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas has said there's another $300,000 left from last year or a total of $1,050,000. The house had voted $500,000.

The Senate made larger appropriations for two Oklahoma projects, upstream from Dardanelle. Eufaula Dam would get two million dollars and Keystone 1½ million. The House voted $50,000 for Eufaula and nothing for Keystone.

Greer's Ferry Reservoir on the Little Red River near Heber Springs, Ark., was voted $750,000 by the Senate, against $180,000 approved by the House.

The Senate voted 3¼ million dollars for flood control construction on the St. Francis Basin, which lies partly in Arkansas, and $350,000 for construction on lower White River flood control projects.

A number of appropriations, many of them recurring from year to year, were unchanged from the House. There were several small allotments for planning.

The big Table Rock Dam on White River just across the Arkansas line in Missouri was allotted 14 million dollars by both Senate and House.

Negro Leaders Advise Caution in Florida

By The Associated Press
Negro leaders advised caution today in two Florida cities where there has been talk of bus boycotts similar to those at Montgomery, Ala., and Tallahassee, Fla.

At Columbia, S. C., attorneys considered whether to appeal dismissal of a case involving segregation on city buses.

The Rev. Enoch D. Davis, leader of a Negro citizens cooperative committee at St. Petersburg, Fla., requested a meeting with the City Council to discuss equal seating of all races on city owned buses.

He said yesterday the meeting is being sought to avert the possibility of a bus boycott similar to those at Montgomery and Tallahassee.

City Manager Ross E. Windom said St. Petersburg will enforce segregation on buses under state laws requiring Negroes to seat from the rear and white persons from the front.

At Miami, Fla., the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People issued a statement last night advising "all citizens to comply with existing city and state laws governing seating on buses."

The meeting followed the arrest of two Negroes during the week on charges of disorderly conduct for failing to move to the rear of buses.

Local Woman Is Killed in Wreck, Man Is Injured

A local woman, Mrs. Josephine Stone, 34, was killed and George Stroud of Hope was injured, about 7 o'clock last night when the car in which they were riding hit a bridge on Highway 67 about eight miles west.

Mrs. Stone was killed almost instantly and Stroud suffered a severely cut ear and internal injuries. He was rushed to a local hospital by an Oakcrest Ambulance for treatment. Attendants at Branch Hospital said he was "resting comfortably" this morning.

Sheriff Jimmie Cook and State Policeman Travis Ward investigated the accident. The Sheriff said the auto was traveling west and hit the bridge over Sandy Bole's d'Arc Creek. The auto was spun completely around and headed back toward Hope. The vehicle was badly smashed.

Mrs. Stone was dead when officials arrived. Mr. Stroud was rushed to the hospital.

Mrs. Stone is survived by a son, Robert Charles, about 10, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Murrah of near Rosston, two brothers, Ray of Hope and Alton of Laneburg.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Friday at Harmony Church, near Sutton by the Rev. S. A. Whitlow, Rev. L. O. Lee and the Rev. Albert Lambo of Sutton. Herndon-Cornelius is in charge of arrangements.

State Hospital to Ask for More Money

LITTLE ROCK (U.P.) — A greatly expanded budget for the State Hospital probably will be presented to the Arkansas Legislative Council tomorrow, Olen Hendrix, chairman of the State Hospital Board, said today.

Hendrix said that a program proposed by Dr. George W. Jackson of Wichita, Kan., former superintendent of the hospital and a paid consultant on hospital affairs, was to be considered by the board late today.

Hendrix said that program provides "for more doctors and nurses to care for the patients and . . . a completely new program at the State Hospital."

Dr. Robert Carnahan was scheduled to take over the job of superintendent today from Dr. Ewing H. Crawford, who has resigned to take a similar position at a Cleveland, Ohio, institution. Dr. Carnahan, now assistant superintendent, will be acting superintendent.

Dr. Cawfis, Hannah and eight may name a replacement for farm manager J. D. Hannah.

Dr. Cawfis, Hannah and eight other top hospital officials quit during a running controversy with Gov. Orval Faubus.

Porter's Wink Tips Off a Bank Robbery

NEW YORK (U.P.) — A tiny, pretty woman bank teller, tipped off by a courageous porter's wink as she came to work this morning, thwarted a Queens bank holdup by two tough-talking heavily armed bandits.

The teller, Rose Wing, 5-foot, 25-year-old Chinese, ran screaming from the bank.

The two robbers who had been holding porter Arthur Hampton at gun and knife point and threatening to kill head teller Peter Ruffolo if he didn't give the bank vault combination, raced from the bank.

The bank, a branch of the Chemical Bank, is situated in a heavily congested district of Queens.

The holdup men got away. They had appeared at the bank when the porter came to work at 7 a. m. They stuck a gun in his back and ordered: "Go ahead—don't stall. Don't do anything that isn't right or I'll plug you."

At 8:25 a.m., Ruffolo came to work and, under orders of the robbers, Hampton let him in.

Just then the woman teller knocked on the door, and Hampton was directed to let her in.

But, he told police later, as he did so "I had a real sad look on my face like I wanted to cry. I winked at her, and when I winked she ran."

Motor Bike, Car Collide, Newsboy Has Knee Injury

Charles Flowers, Hope Star newsboy, escaped serious injury about 10:43 a. m. today when the motor bike which he was riding and a car collided at Third and Hervey. The auto was driven by Mrs. Conley Polk.

Investigating City officers said Young Flowers ran a red signal light. He was rushed to Branch Hospital for treatment of a knee injury and released. Very little damage resulted to the vehicles.

In another accident this morning a truck driven by Joe Matt Herndon and a car driven by George Edwards of Little Rock collided at 13th and Main. City officers said young Herndon was making a left hand turn and the auto was attempting to pass. Officers charged Edwards with passing in an intersection. The Little Rock car was heavily damaged while the truck had only bumper damage.

4 Missing in Tub Sinking on Gulf Coast

NEW ORLEANS (U.P.) — Three survivors from the sinking of the tug May Dee, which went down off the Mississippi coast yesterday during a tropical storm, picked up early today.

The tug O. J. (Senac, out of Morgan City, La., rescued the three men northwest of the point where the May Dee went down. Last night the tug Cormorant had picked up eight men from the rough waters south of Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Rescue ships roved over the Mississippi Sound during the night searching for survivors.

The 80-foot May Dee, owned by Stevens and Co., Inc., of New Orleans, sank in Grand Island Channel, about ten miles east of the Mississippi line as Gulf tides reached their highest point since the disastrous hurricane of 1947.

Clay Calhoun, general manager of the Stevens firm, said the May Dee went down while trying to rescue seven men from the barge.

The May Dee was swamped and its eight-man crew was thrown into the water along with the seven men from the barge.

Calhoun said the names of the 15 men were not immediately available. But the rescued included the May Dee's captain who was not identified.

A radio report monitored by station WGCN at Gulfport from the tug Conrad said the captain was picked up while swimming near a beacon.

A Coast Guard cutter and two other ships continued to search through the night and were joined by two planes and a helicopter at daybreak.

The eight men on the barge wore life jackets, the Coast Guard said.

The barge from which the seven men jumped to the May Dee was equipped with living quarters. It was with the May Dee and another tug on a dredging operation near Cat Island.

The storm moved through the interior of south Mississippi last night, with heavy rains heralding the center. It damaged small boats and piers on the coast between New Orleans and Florida and uprooted trees at Biloxi, Miss.

Winds reached a peak of 52 m.p.h. at Grand Isle, La., about 100 miles south of New Orleans.

Two men were missing and presumed dead when they were thrown into Lake Pontchartrain after their truck jackknifed on the lake bridge during high winds and heavy rains.

The accident blocked traffic on the bridge more than two hours. The bridge closed again later because of water across the road from the four-inch rains that hit New Orleans.

Mrs. John Ridgill, 69, Succumbs at Her Home Here

Mrs. Daisy Ridgill, aged 69, died at her home Wednesday. She was the widow of the late John Ridgill, at one time Chief of Police of Hope, and a county official.

She is survived by one son, Dwight Ridgill of Hope and a daughter Mrs. Glen Coker of Glenwood; a sister, Mrs. Joe Porterfield of Spring Hill and three brothers, Frank Meadows of Anderson, S. C., Lee Meadows of Texarkana and Hillure Meadows of Rosier City, La.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Friday at the First Methodist Church by the Rev. Virgil Keeley. Burial by Herndon-Cornelius will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Oilmen Spend $1.7 Million on Vetoed Gas Bill

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (U.P.) — A Texas oil man testified today an organization he heads has spent more than $1,750,000 to put the "facts" about the natural gas bill before the public. But he denied it lobbied Congress members or gave them any money.

Leonard F. McCollum of Houston, Tex., chairman of the Natural Gas and Oil Resources Committee, told Senate lobby investigators in a sworn statement:

"No one cent of our funds has been spent for campaign contributions or legislative contact work."

McCollum, president of the Continental Oil Co., said the committee was formed Oct. 20, 1954 in New York City to combat "misrepresentations and misunderstandings" of the gas bill. Its single assignment was to conduct "a long-range information and education program," he added.

He said its activities have been financed by "voluntary contributions from companies and individuals in the natural gas and oil industry" and that its expenditures through March 31 of this year totaled $1,753,51.

"Such expenditure, of course, is relatively low," McCollum said, "for a continuing long-range program of education or information."

It aimed at a nationwide audience and which employees newspaper and magazine advertising and printed material in a quantity sufficient to reach that mass audience.

McCollum was the first witness called to testify about the activities of the Natural Gas and Oil Resources Committee in behalf of the bill to free natural gas producers from direct federal price controls.

Congress passed the bill but it was vetoed by President Eisenhower on Feb. 17.

Eisenhower said he was in sympathy with the objectives of the measure but felt he should disapprove it because of what he termed questionable activities by a small segment of the industry.

There had been charges in the Senate of excessive lobbying both for and against the bill.

McCollum's committee is one of eight organizations whose activities for or against the bill are being checked, but Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said in advance of the hearing that "there shouldn't be any implication that they're suspicious."

Hopes to Hike Amount for Foreign Aid

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Support from Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) raised administration hopes today for restoring some of the big cut the House made in President Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

Whether a majority of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee would approve the 600 million dollar minimum increase urged by the White House was uncertain as Chairman George (D-Ga.) called members back into session to start voting.

George has taken the leadership in a drive to restore 500 millions of the House cuts, or half of the amount lopped from military assistance funds.

Including the billion-dollar cut in military aid funds, the House cut a total of $1,104,000,000 from the $4,900,000,000 Eisenhower asked, despite protests from both Republican and Democratic leaders in that body.

AHC Says It Makes Promises to Nobody

LITTLE ROCK (U.P.) — The Arkansas Highway Commission yesterday awarded contracts for 24 road and bridge construction jobs to cost a total of $3,272,244.

The commission programmed $412,100 of work, consisting of comparatively small jobs to be done mainly with state maintenance funds. Most of the major construction for this year already had been programmed.

The commission issued a statement saying that there might be promises of roads by candidates during this summer's political campaign and pointing out that the commission has sole authority in highway matters.

The statement said the commission wasn't delegating its authority to anyone.

Later Gov. Orval Faubus said he approved the commission action. Faubus is a candidate for re-nomination with four opponents.

U. S., Britain to Swap Data on Engines

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The United States has signed an agreement with Great Britain for exchange of information on military atomic engines under which the British presumably will obtain facts about the pioneer U.S. atomic powered submarine, the Nautilus.

The State Department announced the agreement had been signed yesterday. Press Officer Lincoln White said it was mainly concerned with technical matters.

When newsmen pressed for information today on the wording of the agreement, which indicated a considerable broadening of British-American cooperation in the atomic field, White said he would try to get answers in the course of the day.

The agreement was signed by British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins, Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) and Deputy Assistant Secretary of State C. Burke Elbridge.

Dulles said Eisenhower "personally brought up" the question of German reunification.

"It was a very good talk," Dulles said. "The President expressed not only the sentiment that he feels toward the German people and that the American people feel, but he expressed the hope that action would soon be taken to liberate the 17 million Germans now in the Eastern zone of Germany."

That was the principal point Eisenhower brought up, Dulles reported.

"It was a very interesting experience to be at this meeting," Dulles said.

"It was almost a miracle that it could come so quickly after such an operation."

State Tries to Get Research Center

LITTLE ROCK (U.P.) — A campaign to get a multi-million-dollar government research center on animal diseases located near Fayetteville has received the backing of Arkansas' big industrial and agricultural organizations.

The U. S. Agriculture Department has announced to land-grant colleges and universities throughout the nation that it seeks a new location for the $18,950,000 center. The present center in Maryland is closing because of lack of room to expand.

Dr. John Tyler Caldwell, president of the University of Arkansas, one of the schools notified, told a meeting here yesterday that "We don't think we're spinning our wheels when we say we can make a whale of a case for the center coming to Arkansas."

Represented at the meeting were the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation, the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, the Arkansas Economic Council, State Chamber of Commerce and other groups.

Another meeting was scheduled for today at Fayetteville.

After choosing the three or four most acceptable sites at a St. Louis meeting June 27, a government site selection committee will visit each location before making its final decision.

Ike Tells German Leader He Hopes for Unification

BY STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (U.P.) — President Eisenhower told German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a 10-minute hospital meeting today he hopes for early action on reunification of Germany "to liberate the 17 million Germans" in the Eastern zone.

Eisenhower, clad in pajamas and sitting up in a chair, received the 80-year-old German leader in the President's room at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

With them were Mrs. Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles, and an interpreter, Henry Kellerman of the State Department.

Adenauer left immediately afterward to fly to New York City to continue his unofficial U.S. visit.

It was Eisenhower's first meeting with anybody outside of his personal and official families and medical personnel since his operation for an abdominal obstruction last Saturday.

The brief session followed what the doctors reported as Eisenhower's best night since he underwent surgery.

Both Adenauer and Dulles, speaking briefly for newsmen and photographers, described the President's recovery as "a miracle."

"I have asked the doctor to explain this miracle," Adenauer said, "and he has said it is a healthy organism."

Dulles said Eisenhower "personally brought up" the question of German reunification.

"It was a very good talk," Dulles said. "The President expressed not only the sentiment that he feels toward the German people and that the American people feel, but he expressed the hope that action would soon be taken to liberate the 17 million Germans now in the Eastern zone of Germany."

That was the principal point Eisenhower brought up, Dulles reported.

"It was a very interesting experience to be at this meeting," Dulles said.

"It was almost a miracle that it could come so quickly after such an operation."

Nixon's Early Statements Being Used

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Democrats on the Senate Investigations subcommittee are quoted today as saying they will use early statements by Vice President Nixon in arguing their right to investigate the affairs of Murry M. Chotiner, his 1952 campaign manager.

Nixon, then a senator and a member of the subcommittee, asserted that the group had a right to inquire into dealings with the government by two attorneys who also were high Democratic campaign strategists. "The public generally is entitled to know yet attorneys represent concerns who are operating before government agencies," he said.

Chotiner has appealed to members of Congress to halt what he terms a "political fishing expedition" by the subcommittee into his affairs and those of law clients he has represented before the government since the Eisenhower administration took office.

State Polio Cases this Year Only 13

LITTLE ROCK (U.P.) — The state Board of Health said today that only 13 polio cases have been reported in Arkansas this year compared with 38 at the same period last year.

The figures were for the week which ended June 9. No cases were reported last week compared with three cases in the same week last year.

Measles cases continued at three times the figure for last year. A total of 7,907 has been reported so far in comparison with 2,497 in 1955.

Sees Okay of Bill to Offset Court Ruling

WASHINGTON (M) — Sen. Mundt (R-SD) predicted today swift approval by Congress of a bill to plug what he termed "the great hole shot into our internal security" by the Supreme Court.

Mundt and Sens. Eastland (D-Miss) and McCarthy (R-Wis.) introduced yesterday similar bills designed to negate the court's 6-3 ruling on Monday that the government may not summarily dismiss on security grounds workers whose jobs do not directly concern national security.

Another Republican, former Sen. Harry P. Cain of Washington, agreed in a separate interview that the Supreme Court "did shoot a hole" in the loyalty-security program, but said it was "right where it should be shot."

Cain, appointed by President Eisenhower to the Subversive Activities Control Board, has become a vigorous critic of the security program.

At the end of two days of testimony before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee yesterday, one man Cain cited was reoffered a job he had lost on security grounds. And Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) said the subcommittee he heads will explore other cases which Cain described as "injustices" or at least questionable.

Faubus Jumps
Remmel drew 127,004 votes — an unusually good showing for a Republican in traditionally Democratic Arkansas — to 208,12 for Faubus made his remark at a press conference following an observation that he thought the GOP had "reached its peak" in 1954.

LITTLE ROCK (M) — Gov. Orval Faubus, on the eve of a campaign for re-nomination to a second term, let loose a delayed blast yesterday at the man he beat for a second term — former Gov. Francis Cherry.

Faubus said Republican candidate Pratt Remmel, who rolled up a surprising vote in the 1954 general election, had the Cherry administration back of him.

Reporters, interviewing Faubus at a news conference, asked him to be a little more specific.

Did he mean that Cherry had supported Remmel?

"Sure," the governor replied, "how do you think he got that $15,000 job in Washington?"

Cherry now has a federal job in Washington at a salary of approximately $15,000 a year.

Faubus defeated Cherry for a second term nomination in 1954 by a narrow margin after a bitter Democratic primary campaign.

In the general election, Faubus got around 208,000 votes to some 127,000 for Remmel. The Republican average in previous recent elections had been around 50,000 or less.

Cherry turned down suggestions that he run as an independent against Faubus in the general election but he never made any gesture of support toward Faubus as the Democratic nominee.

Faubus' comment yesterday resulted from questions about his reaction to Republican nomination Tuesday of Roy Mitchell of Hot Springs as a candidate for governor.

If Faubus wins over his four Democratic primary opponents, Mitchell will be his foe in the general election.

Faubus said he wasn't worried too much about the Republicans.

He said "Their high point was in 1954 when they had the Cherry administration behind them."

Negro Charged in Rape-Murder
BALTIMORE (M) — A Negro handyman was seized today and charged with the murder-rape of a matron in the fashionable suburbs of North Baltimore.

Police were holding Carl Daniel Kier, 21, at the Parkville police station on homicide charges.

They said he had been soliciting work in the area yesterday where the victim, Mrs. John H. Bopst, 43, lived.

Two butcher knives, a Japanese saber, still in its scabbard, and a heavy brass figurine were used as weapons in the slaying of the mother of four.

She was eating a bowl of ice cream when the intruder forced open a screen door and surprised her. Police in Baltimore County said the crime was the "most brutal assault" they had ever seen. Bloodstains were found on a table, the ice cream was spattered about and there were signs of a furious struggle.

Afghanistan Quakes Bring Many Deaths
NEW DELHI, India (M) — Five days of earthquakes in Afghanistan may have killed more than 100 persons, reports from Kabul said today.

The Kabul reports said the shocks apparently were strongest in the mountains of northern Afghanistan, an area peopled largely by primitive nomadic tribes which borders on the Soviet Union.

Maintenance Work Is Programmed

LITTLE ROCK (UP) —The State Highway commission today programmed $364,400 worth of highway construction and maintenance projects for late summer and early fall.

The largest of the jobs was a $90,000 project in Clark county calling for base construction and resurfacing 8.2 miles of Highway 51 from Boswell to the junction of Highway 26.

Another Clark county project programmed was construction of three bridges on Highway 51 between Brown Springs and Highway 7. It is expected to cost about $30,200.

Other large projects included an estimated $52,000 job of widening West Markham street in front of the state hospital here between Elm and Hayes streets. The remainder of the street is to be widened by the city.

In Washington and Franklin counties the commission scheduled a $44,000 project of graveling 18.6 miles on Highway 23 between the junction of Highway 16 and Ozark.

President Is Interested in Loyalty Revise

BY G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry P. Cain said today President Eisenhower showed "deep concern and interest" in Cain's proposals for overhauling the government loyalty-security program.

Cain, in further testimony prepared for a Senate Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional rights, charged that "Fascist" type abuses have marked the program to an extent where application for a federal job here said "becomes a terrifying and inhuman trap."

Resuming testimony he began yesterday he said innocent men and women may be tabbed as security risks without ever learning why, or having a real chance to defend themselves.

Cain, a Republican and a former Whittington state senator, has indicated he expects to be dropped from his $15,000-a-year job as a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board because of his outspoken criticism of the loyalty-security program.

He denounced anew the practice of automatically suspending those against whom derogatory information is turned up. He said, "The President, among many others, wants this practice stopped." He said that before Congress adjourns it should pass a law abolishing the practice.

Eisenhower, he said, did not seem to know, until their face-to-face talk at the White House last Thursday, that under the present system a spy and a drunk are counted alike in the over-all tabulation of those fired as security risks.

"The President had thought that a clear distinction was being made between loyalty cases and security cases," he said.

Actually, he said, that was the case until Eisenhower's 1953 executive order setting up the program now in effect. He said this change made the program an "all-encompassing standard which mixes loyalty, security and suitability indiscriminately" with some times "disastrous" results.

This, he said, has resulted in 3,600 employees being fired as security risks and 6,000 others who "resigned because, so it is reported, their files contained derogatory information." He termed those figures so misleading as to constitute an "unattractive numbers game" that he said could become a "racket" unless Congress intervenes.

Alaric the Goth, in 408 A. D., demanded not only gold and silver, but 3,000 pounds of pepper, as part of the ransom of Rome.

DOROTHY DIX

Skirt-Chaser Late for Meals Keep Active

Dear Dorothy Dix: I recently left my husband because I felt he was being unfaithful with other women, particularly his first wife. His ex has remarried, but left her husband to chase after mine. He has one child by the first marriage, and while I knew he was seeing the youngster, I didn't know that was an excuse to pay attention to his former wife.

I still love him, and guess I would gladly take him back, but he's always involved with one woman or another. He's a handsome man, and women flatter him a lot. This he finds hard to resist. He's a good provider, and a cheerful companion. In fact, his only fault is loving women.

Do you think he loves me, or even knows what love is?

SHIRLENE
Dear Shirlene: Your husband's only fault is just about the worst a husband can have. A wife will forgive just about anything as long as she's secure in the love and loyalty of her mate.

A husband also has a part to play in preserving marriage; everything can't be left to the wife. Your man's disregard of the most elemental rules of marital responsibility indicate a very poor chance of reform. Faithfulness is his code, and he means to stick to it.

A clean break, and a new start with a decent man, will lead you into much happier future.

Dear Dorothy Dix: After many years of widowhood, I recently married a man of 68 who was a bachelor. We've been very happy together except for one fault of his. He never comes home for meals. After work, he wanders down to a tavern with some of his co-workers and stays there until 7 o'clock. How can I break him of the habit?

SADIE
Dear Sadie: It's bound to be a difficult thing to housebreak a man who's been a bachelor all of his 68 years. Anything accomplished among those lines can be considered quite a feat.

Your only complaint is that he's late for meals. Why not postpone your own dinner until he does get home? Or, have something he particularly likes, tell him in the morning what it will be and settle dinner time. When the hour arrives, the man comes with it or — no dinner.

Put it away, throw it away (the lesson learned may be worth a wasted meal) or give it away, but don't serve it late.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am very fond of the true love story type of magazine but my Dad doesn't want me to read them. I'm a very lonesome girl.

LILA
Dear Lila: Reading magazines won't increase your sociability. Be more active in school, make friends and you'll soon forget you were ever lonesome.

There's a vast quantity of reading matter that will be as interesting as love magazines, and will do you much more good. Ask your English teacher, or the school librarian, to recommend some books for you.

Keep your mind and body active. Sensational fiction of the type you like dulls the mind; good books enliven it.

Faubus Undecided on Presidential Nominee

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said today that he hadn't made up his mind yet on a Democratic candidate for president.

Returning from a journey to north Arkansas, the governor denied the report of a syndicated columnist that placed Faubus firmly behind Adlai Stevenson for the nomination.

Faubus said he probably would

I would. The competition now is too keen.

But competition rarely bothered Mrs. Rinehart. Writing on a rigid schedule — from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. — she turned out from 2,000 to 6,000 words a day. The result: 60 books that made her the leading best seller American author of the 20th century. They have sold more than 11 million copies.

A publisher recently estimated that in the last 49 years her world public has paid $27,000,000 to buy her books and see her plays.

Mrs. Rinehart is justifiably proud of that record. She feels it's "not a bad achievement for one woman working all alone with a pen at a desk."

She loves to live graciously, surrounded by the symbols of splendor and elegance. Her spirit leans on and is refreshed by the durability of lovely things.

"The nicety of living is going out of the world," she said. "But I like it and cling to it."

"My tenure of life has been uncertain. I must make the best of it I can."

"I've lived a life so filled with tragedy I could never take safety for granted. I've been so close to dying so many times, and yet I'm not a coward. Even at my age I'm not afraid of dying. I hope I'm not afraid of anything."

Mrs. Rinehart's life has been full of tragedy and illness. Her brilliant father, an inventor, committed suicide. Her mother, a paralytic invalid, was accidentally scalded to death in her bath, unable to cry for help.

In 1932 she lost her husband, a tuberculosis specialist. Fifteen times she herself has undergone surgery, once for cancer. She has make a recommendation to the Arkansas delegation before the Democratic National Convention gets underway Aug. 13.

The voters probably will decide whether Faubus will attend the convention. The second Democratic primary election is scheduled for Aug. 14, the day after the opening of the convention. Faubus is seeking a second term nomination. If his job still is at stake on the day of the second primary, he probably would decide against leaving the state.

He said he never has attended a national convention.

Asked if he thought he could polish off his four opponents in the first primary July 1, Faubus laughed and said he plans to try. Faubus said he expected to name his campaign manager next week.

During the war of 1812, Andrew Jackson's 2,000 militiamen defeated 12,000 British regulars in the battle of New Orleans.

survived four coronary attacks and, against the advice of her doctor, still smokes a pack of cigarettes a day.

Her greatest joys are "to be surrounded by my family" — she has more than a dozen great grandchildren — "and to do a day's work."

Still mellow, warm, and cheerful, she admires courage and kindness above all other virtues and says today's generation is braver than it is given credit for. "They are bright and gay in the face of adversity," she said. "They don't think it's tragic to have only a little money. They're wonderful."

But when I asked her what impressed her most about life in the year 1956 she said, her bright blue eyes clouding:

"It's chaos. In my childhood there was more serenity, peace, and security in the world. We have been losing these things ever since."

Robin Roberts Suffers Fourth Straight Loss

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

It begins to look as if the rest of the National League has caught up with Robin Roberts, the ace of Philadelphia's pitching staff who may miss 20 victories for the first time in seven years.

Milwaukee's Braves, who had lost 13 of 23 run-ins with Roberts, greeted Robin like a favorite cousin last night, rocking him from the mound with a seven-run fourth inning that handed the big right-hander his eighth defeat against only five victories.

It was the fourth straight setback from Roberts, who hasn't lost that many in a row since 1953. Never in his six straight 20-or-more-victory seasons was Robin shackled with a losing record at this stage of the schedule. He's had only one losing year in baseball—when he was 7-9 as a rookie with the Phils in 1948.

Only one other NL game was played, with the Chicago Cubs winning No. 10 in the last 13 on a 6-5 decision over the New York Giants. Rain postponed the first-place battle between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. Brooklyn and St. Louis were not scheduled.

In the American, the Chicago White Sox beat the New York Yankees for the first time in seven trips 7-5 and edged into second, four games back of the Yanks, as Cleveland and Boston battled to an 11-inning 8-8 tie halted by rain.

Detroit bopped Baltimore 2-0 on Charley Maxwell's ninth-inning home run. Kansas City popped out of the cellar with 21 hits that beat Washington 13-4 and dropped the Senators into last place.

The Braves snapped a three-game losing streak in their 14th attack against the 1st place Phils. Roberts absorbed nine of the blows, including three triples by Danny O'Connell that tied a major league record. Del Crandall and Ed Mathews homered for five runs in the big fourth.

Three New York errors totaled five unearned runs for the Cubs, who counted a three-run homer by Eddie Miksis as Bob Rush's relief. The White Sox won the hard way, giving up four errors and overruns for a 3-1 deficit in the fourth.

Ron Northey's pinch three-run homer off starter Bob Turley. Larry Doby made it 5-4 in the fifth with his first home run of the season and Luis Aparicio packed it away with a two-run, bases-loaded single in the seventh.

Babe Ruth "caught up" with Mickey Mantle, who hasn't hit a home run in a week. The Mick has 21 after 53 games. The Babe had the same number in his record 60-homer year of 1927.

Jackie Jensen socked a bases-loaded triple to tie it in the fourth. Vic Wertz, who dove in five runs, had given Cleveland an 8-5 lead in the top of the fourth with his 14th homer, a three-run jolt off reliever Dave Sisler and his second of the game.

Detroit had just one hit off Billy Loes, making his first start for the Orioles since his purchase from Brooklyn, before he retired in the seventh. Maxwell's 11th homer was the first this season off reliever George Zvernick.

Charley Thompson and Vic Power each had five hits for the A's, while Hector Lopez and Gus Zernial homered in the hit parade against four Washington pitchers.

Military Pie—The increasing importance of the Air Force in our defense is reflected in the new military budget now before the Senate. Funds appropriated for the fiscal year 1957 gave the Army the lion's share, with 12.9 billion out of 33.8 billion dollars. The Air Force then received only 11.4 billion, while the Navy had to be content with the remaining 9.5 billion. The new budget, however, gives the Air Force almost half the funds, while the Army now receives the least of the three. Of the proposed 34.5 billion dollars in the new military budget, the Air Force expects to get 16.5 billion, the Navy 9.5, and the Army only 8.5 billion. ## Vols Lick the Travs, Atlanta Bests Mobile

By The Associated Press

Good things came in threes for the three winning Southern Association clubs last night—but while Chattanooga and Nashville were taking their own luck Atlanta was handed its good fortune on a silver platter.

After blowing a five-run lead, Atlanta gratefully accepted a "gift" run in the 10th, beating Mobile 7-6. Chattanooga and Nashville both scored three runs in critical innings as the Lookouts downed Memphis 5-4 and the Vols beat Little Rock 6-4 in a game shortened to eight innings by a rain.

The New Orleans at Birmingham game was washed out.

Nashville scored its three big runs just before the rain hit. Little Rock had led 4-3 going into the eighth. In the Vol half, George Schmees slammed his 10th homer with a man aboard and the Vols got one more before the downpour.

The victory enabled the Vols to jump from fourth to second place, 6½ games behind the idle Barons. John Brechin survived a shaky fourth, when Clint Weaver homered and Billy Wells banged a two-run double, to pick up his seventh victory against three setbacks.

Atlanta built an early lead on two-run homers by Bob Thorpe and Buck Riddle, but Mobile chased starting ace Joey Jay with a four-run uprising in the sixth capped by Steve Jankowski's three-run triple.

In the bottom of the 10th, with the scored tied 6-6 and two out, Mobile reliever Bob Cain intentionally walked two batters, loading the bases, then hit Bob Montag and forced in the tie-breaker. Lenny Yochim, recently acquired from New Orleans, won for the Crackers in relief.

Chattanooga picked starter Bill Dufour for three hits and three game-winning runs in the seventh.

They play to spend the rest of their vacation with relatives and friends in St. Louis, Mo., Chicago, Illinois, and Los Angeles, California.

Victor Borge Doesn't Play, Just Talks BY CHARLES MERCER NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody laughs when Victor Borge sits down to play.

This is because he doesn't play, but only talks about it. Or else he starts to play and then says the heck with it. When expected to play, he doesn't. When no one expects it, he does. He is an artist at keeping an audience off balance, a state an audience enjoys so hilariously that when the show is over everybody is depressed by normalcy.

Well, this evening you might as well cancel other engagements. Because Borge, that most unmelancholy of men ever born in Denmark, is going to play in an hour on CBS-TV. His first full-length television show, it is entitled "Victor Borge's Comedy in Music."

This is a complete steal, Borge admits, on the highly successful one-man Broadway and road show entitled "Comedy in Music" starring Victor Borge. Summoned into town the other day from his farm in Southbury, Conn., and asked to give an explanation of his actions, Borge obviously feared self-incrimination.

He preferred to talk about his Rock Cornish hens. He is one of the biggest raisers and sellers of Rock Cornish hens in the country. It's a curious fate for a man who can't bear to kill anything. He likes flowers, for example, but he can't bear to pick one because he hates to see it die.

He never killed a hen; hirelings perform the task for him. But even that was so painful to him that he invented a gizmo whereby the poor hens are tunned by a slight electrical shock and so are slaughtered painlessly—at least Borge believes it's painlessly; he doesn't like to think about it.

WHAT IS HE JACKSON, Miss. (UP) — A safe-cracker who tried to rob a local battling plant is either skeptic or an illiterate, police decided yesterday.

The thief left empty-handed after obvious attempts to pry open the company safe, which wasn't locked and had a sign on the door that read "not locked."

Dulles Having None of This Neutrality

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a tailor who thinks the suit's too big, Secretary of State Dulles walked briskly up to the subject of neutrality and went snip, snip. None of this neutrality stuff for him.

"Immoral," he said. "Signed," But his suit had been made by President Eisenhower. And Vice President Nixon put the pockets on it. Eisenhower had defended the right of nations to be neutral. Nixon

John Wayne's Son Looks Like a New Star

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The latest heartbeat of the teen-age set is a second generation filmster with a shy manner and an easy grin.

He is handsome six-footer Pat Wayne, son of the screen's ace moneymaker John. Although Pat

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., (AP)—C. A. Price, 31, former Associated Press traffic and news employee, died yesterday.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian newspaper Red Star announced death of Lt. Gen. Konstantin D. Golubev, a veteran of the 1917 Revolution and of World War II.

has been seen only briefly in a handful of pictures, he is already figuring prominently in the fan magazine popularity polls, placing a few notches below his famous father.

I had already talked to the proud papa, so I sought out young Pat for his reflections on his career.

I tracked him down at dinner-time at his mid-Los Angeles home where he lives with his mother, John Wayne's first wife. He introduced his older brother Mike. Pat answered questions in a taciturn and shy manner.

Does he like working in pictures?

"Oh, yes. It's a lot of fun."

How did he happen to get started?

"I had done a few little things in pictures for Mr. Ford, (director John Ford, mentor of John Wayne and Pat's godfather.) He asked me if I wanted to play a bigger part in 'The Lone Gray Line.' It sounded okay."

Does he want to be an actor?

"I don't know yet. I have some time to decide—another year of high school and four of college. My father wants me to finish school first."

How are his grades?

"All right."

Brother Mike acted as press agent: "I can speak for him on that. He does very well in school—A's and B's mostly."

How does Pat's mother take to his acting career?

"She thinks it's okay," he replied. He explained that most of his film work has been in the summer and would continue to be until he gets out of college. He has signed with the C. V. Whitney company for seven years and is expected to star for the first time in "The Missouri Traveler" this summer.

John Wayne is more loquacious about Pat's career than the lad is himself. He was high in his praise for a scene Pat did in "The Searchers."

"The scene was a terror," said John. "He had to come bursting in and tell me and Ward Bond the whole story of what had happened. We interrupted him with questions, but he kept on going. Ford let it run and the kid did the scene perfectly."

Around The World

BERLIN, Germany, (UP)—East Germany appears to be creating a tough, disciplined army completely loyal to the Communist regime. West German intelligence sources said today.

They said not a single member of the "people's army" has deserted to the West since the seven divisions were set up Jan. 18.

In contrast, members of the "people's police" have been trickling across the border into West Berlin and West Germany at the rate of nearly a dozen a day.

Western sources here said the Communists are hand picking every member of their army from tried and true party members and then putting them through intensive indoctrination courses.

In addition, discipline in the Army is stern and unbending. The new Army was drawn from units of the East German "baracks people's police" but its members were closely screened.

Some units of the barracks police still exist.

Western observers pointed out that the barracks police and regular police were formed from unemployed persons, war veterans and others who had found it difficult to fit into a civilian mold in a Communist state.

Many of them paid only lip service to communism. Hundreds deserted to the West after the June, 1953 uprising in which many fought at the side of striking East German civilians.

The new army can draw on youths who have been indoctrinated with Communist ideology and loyalty since childhood in the 11 years since East Germany went under the Soviet boot.

They know of no other faith or loyalty than to the Red regime of Premier Otto Grotewohl.

The new army, dressed in field gray uniforms like those of the Nazis, paraded in East Berlin May 1 in direct defiance of the four-power agreements on Berlin.

Soviet authorities refused to heed Western protests.

CAIRO, Egypt, (UP)—The Egyptian cabinet has made it highly unlikely that anyone will try to reinstate a monarchy in Egypt.

The cabinet yesterday decreed that any future president or cabinet minister of the republic who attempts to bring back the throne is liable to punishment by death.

The cabinet decree declared the Supreme Court as all powerful in the new law.

It will be composed of 12 members—six elected members of the national assembly and six elder members of the judiciary. A two-thirds majority of the court will rule.

Radiation Preserved Foods Seen

By ROBERT HUNT

ST. LOUIS (U)—Ladies, in about five years you just might be able to serve your family a meal with foods preserved through atomic radiation.

The process was described today to a meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists. It is intended to supplement present-day methods of canning and refrigeration.

Capt. Reuben Pomerantz, radiation preservation officer of the Quartermaster Food and Container Institute of Chicago, said results of the program might be available to the general public in about five years and it could reduce prices somewhat.

He said a limited amount of radiation could permit keeping some foods to a long time at regular refrigeration temperatures. He said this food doesn't become radioactive.

Army research now constitutes most of the work being done on the new approach. Plans or a pilot plant capable of radiated food daily are in the works.

A group of 10 volunteers, all former conscientious objectors, are now on 100 per cent radiated food diet at Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Denver.

Capt. Pomerantz said "there is no difference at all in their behavior" when on the radiated diet.

He said some foods, such as green, leafy vegetables, fresh fruits and dairy products, don't lend themselves to the process. Strawberries, turn white. Lettuce wilts and milk comes out with a burned taste.

Pork products, poultry, brussels sprouts, broccoli and fish were termed the most promising foodstuffs for radiation.

Capt. Pomerantz said the process could introduce a "new but acceptable taste."

What a Few Noted Folks Are Saying

By United Press

WASHINGTON — Presidential Press Secretary Jaes Hagerty on whether the President feels some pain from his recent operation: "He does not feel like getting up and doing a jig."

PARIS — Former President Truman answering Russian charges that the United States used atomic bombs against Japan for political reasons: "Stalin knew we had a weapon but he did not know what it was. He was in complete agreement with Mr. Winston Churchill and myself that the weapon should be used."

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in cautioning against undue optimism about Russian denunciations of Josef Stalin: "There is only one cure for the evils of the imposed Soviet dictatorship — that is government which derives its powers from the consent of the governed."

CHICAGO — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler in charging that some of the doctors attending President Eisenhower are propagandizing: "They apparently do a terrific job of saying that anyone who has had a heart attack and an operation for Crohn's disease is much better qualified physically to be President than anyone else."

NEW YORK — Playwright Arthur Miller, when asked about his rumored romance with Marilyn Monroe: "It's my business, frankly."

ATLANTA, Ga. — Native Atlantan Hal Dumas, who went to New York city five years ago to become a high executive of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., on segregation: "They take a great effort to condemn segregation in the South but it (New York) is the most painfully racial and religious clique-minded town in existence."

CHICAGO—Dr. Leonard Scheele, Health Service, on the quality of the Salk polio vaccine: "Unquestionably we now have a vaccine which is standing up under the most careful scrutiny with respect to safety and effectiveness."

HARTFORD, Conn. — Herbert Brucker, chairman of the freedom of information committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, on censorship of the press: "The most disturbing thing... is the morbid idea that we can gain strength by aping the totalitarian Soviet system of censoring everything."

MASS OPERATION. MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (UP) — Five-year-old Gary Hensch found comfort in numbers yesterday when he had his tonsils removed. ### Justice Building Bid to Be Opened

LITTLE ROCK (U)—Bids on construction of a state justice building will be opened Friday at 2 p.m., Secretary of State C. G. Hall said today.

The proposed structure would be located on the southwest portion of the Capitol grounds.

Hall said architect's estimates for the building as originally planned exceeded anticipated revenues. He said the bids will be on three alternate plans.

The new building will house the Supreme Court, the attorney general's office, Workmen's Compensation Commission and the Public Service Commission.

It is to be financed on a court fee and office rental basis.

Operation on Heart Shows Promise

BY ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

CHICAGO (U)—An operation that aids ailing hearts could be used to prevent serious heart damage before it occurs, a heart specialist said today.

Some 1,200 persons with sick hearts have had this surgery, said Dr. Bernard Brofman, Mount Sinai Hospital, Cleveland. He called it safe and effective for a majority of patients who have had coronary attacks.

It should no longer be considered a "last resort" step after other treatments have failed, he said. "Ideally, it

Britain Ends 155 Year Hold on Suez Canal

BY GERALD ARATHOON

PORT SAID, Egypt. — (UP) — Britain withdrew its last sentry from the Suez Canal one today, ending 155 years of military operations in the land of the Pharaohs.

The last Union Jack fluttered down over a deserted garrison at sundown yesterday without bugle or drum beat to pace its descent. It was the end of an era that began in March, 1801, when the British drove Napoleon's soldiers out of Egypt.

Just before dawn today the final picket line of the British garrison went aboard a British LST (landing ship tank) to join the rest of the garrison for transport to Cyprus, now the last British stronghold in the Eastern Mediterranean.

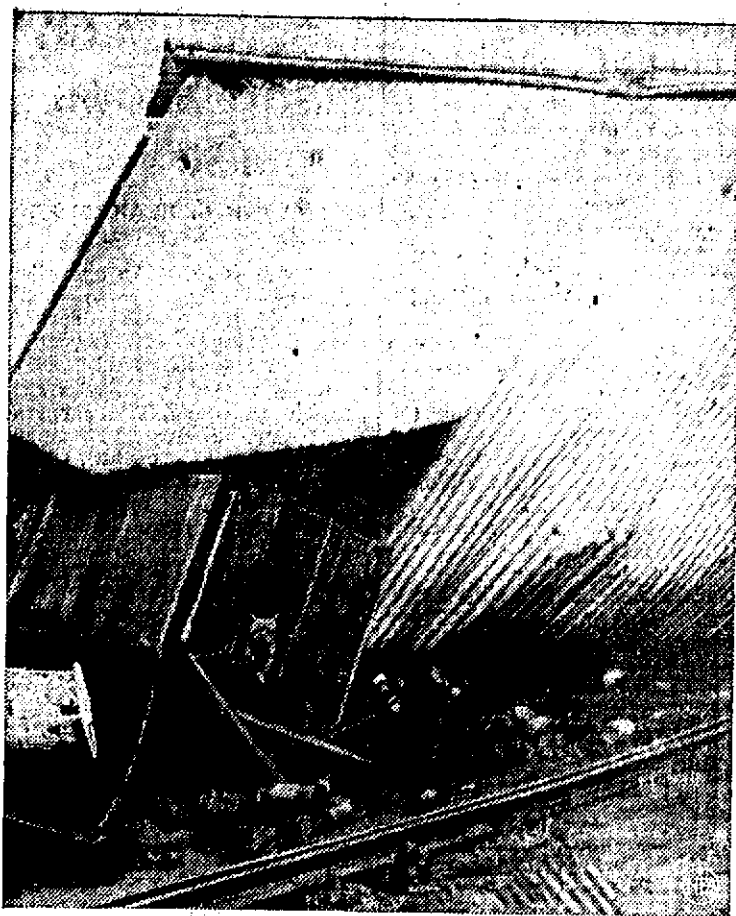

Edwin John Lacey, the commander of the Port Said garrison, signed over occupation of Navy House headquarters to Egyptian officials last night and then drove aboard the LST in a staff car. He returned briefly to shore today for a final ceremony. He left Suez forever at 6:13 a.m. (12:13 a.m. EDT).

"This is an unhappy occasion for us," Lacey said as he stood on the deck of the ship and gazed at the empty flagstaff at Navy House. "But we agreed to withdraw and our job is done."

Britain retains the right to return to defend the canal zone against alien aggression. And British civilians will man the canal facilities. But all remnants of military occupation ended when the last sentry went aboard.

It was in 1801 that the first British soldiers slipped quietly into the mighty man-of-war into the harbor, rowed to the beaches outside Alexandria and sited there to drive Napoleon Bonaparte back to France.

The last soldier to leave today was 23-year-old Sgt. Jaes Reed Dickie, a Red Devil or paratrooper who was flown to the zone to fight Egyptian guerrillas. "All we want to do is say goodbye to this place and leave it to the Egyptians," he said quietly.

CHAPTER XXII

In his office Sheriff Chantry hooked a chair with his boot and spun it closer. "You look like a hard-crusted gunhand, but I don't believe you are. Whatever you might be—hard-crusted drifter or bum—I wonder about you sashayin' in this way. After the leather we been burnin' all afternoon one of my possemen could easily pull down on you with a gun."

Frank grinned at that. "Possmen sometimes don't know why they're riding."

There was a skinned knife lying on the desk beside Chantry's hand. He picked it up, turning it over. Greasy butcher's twine was wound over the handle. "Still, the dice are one day going to fall sixes for you. You better come clean while I'm in a listening mood." He threw the knife with expert skill and it struck in the back-edge of his desk, quivering there.

Frank thought, is that knife supposed to mean something to me? He told about falling in with Cash in the foothills of the Signals how he hadn't liked the crew but had come in on their campfire on an empty belly. He made a clean story, holding nothing back, not even his liking for Ed Rambaut or the raid in the Signals. Chantry interrupted.

"Who raised you?" Frank frowned. "An idea is dangerous without proof. When I left Rambaut he was dead. A few minutes later there was a pistol shot. Ever since I've been trying to get a line on it. Who's cold-blooded enough for that kind of shot?"

Chantry sighed. "A lot of men on this range're black enough. On the other hand, how do you know the fellow wasn't playing it safe? A man busting into a setup like that's nervous naturally."

Frank went on with his story explaining how he and Emmett had ridden out of the Mojave Box while Chantry and his posse were advancing on the mine shack. As he told this part curious light hit Chantry's eyes. He dragged his spurs across the floor, sitting up.

"Why'd you ride into the Box with Emmett? Were you afraid to buck him face to face?" Frank shook his head. "Just wanted to make sure they meant to go all the way, ruinin' Jean Cash. Pretty sickening for a man to do that to his sister. I broke loose of Emmett and rode to Raft or C after I found that out. We're deliverin' what's left of her horses to Fort McHenry."

Frank couldn't understand why Chantry was putting it so bluntly. He had come here expecting Chantry would try to look him up for the killing of the posseman's horse. Instead the lawman failed to hold Frank to blame for the shooting. He took a long guess and knew he had been right in assuming Chantry was in a tight spot. The lawman was counting on him for help. He asked flatly: "Why don't you break that vul-ture's clutch on this range?"

"Is Norrington a vulture?" "He's killed everything decent that was ever in Cashtown. He tolerates you, but when he's ready you'll either whistle his tune or he'll destroy you."

"They're strong words for a drifter," Chantry grumbled. His eyes swept back to the knife he had tipped in his desk, his fingers running through his gray hair. "Like you say, an idea's dangerous without proof. Mighty poor policy of either of us to accuse Norrington of anything. If I did his friends in Cashtown would make sure it was my last move."

"Well, that writes off Norrington. What about Emmett Cash?"

The sheriff made a very face. "Emmett didn't have to turn out this way. Maybe it was just a weakness in the blood of Vegel's first wife. Emmett's mother was the daughter of a wild cowboy and a hot-tempered border woman."

Vegel met her buyin' beef stuff in Texas and trailed her along with his stock. I figure he was drunk when he married her. Anyhow, he left Emmett his saloon when he died. In spite of what Emmett claims, he wasn't cut off by his father. The truth is, what he got was more than he could handle."

"You believe he cleaned out the bank?"

"I see you pick up news fast," Chantry said dryly. "Facts are facts, and if I get the chance I'll ask Emmett whether he can talk himself out of that one."

"There's a woman who claims she was with him in the Alhambra when the bank was looted." "Bring her here. I'll enjoy hearing her say that. Meantime, I've been riding the hocks off my horse hunting Emmett."

Frank was watching Chantry closely, by now realizing for a certainty the sheriff looked to him for help. He saw all the trouble that harassed Cashown mirrored in those pale eyes a steadily growing nightmare that had come to be a canker in the sheriff's side. He gestured with his head, feeling one sharp stab of remorse for doing this to Emmett. "Beyond the Mojave Box, Lew, you'll find the punch at Jonathan Yates's."

Chantry swore roundly. "I watched the shack two nights in a row, all through a rain. They weren't there then. Jonathan Yates is in town. Who's hiding him?"

Frank met his head-on look. There were others involved in this: Lily Ornette with her odd loyalty springing out of the love of a man still unbattered in the Signals, and George La Tour whose creed of administering to the ailing knew no bounds. Slowly Frank shook his head.

Harriman and Adlai to Stay 'Friendly'

NEW YORK (AP)—Top New York state backers of Gov. Averell Harriman and Adlai E. Stevenson have agreed to remain friendly rivals in the campaign to win the Democratic presidential nomination for their candidates.

They said they endorsed a friendly campaign so as to assure the eventual nominee of united support from New York Democrats after the party's national convention.

The understanding was reached yesterday at a luncheon attended by Carmine G. DeSapio, Democratic national committeeman and Harriman backer; Thomas K. Finletter, chairman of the New York State Stevenson-for-President Committee; and former Air Force secretary and Alex Rose, vice chairman of the Liberal party.

The Liberal party, which exists only in New York state, has not announced support for any candidate. The Liberals backed Stevenson in 1952.

DeSapio, Finletter and Rose issued this joint statement: "While there are supporters in New York state for both candidates, for Gov. Harriman and (former) Gov. Stevenson (of Illinois), our objective is to maintain maximum unity in our ranks so that the nominee of the Democratic convention in Chicago will have united support in New York state."

Currently the Stevenson forces claim seven votes among New York's 98 votes at the convention. The rest are counted for Harriman.

Then listen -- it won't take long.

The 1956 Buick has so many new developments -- in styling -- in power -- in performance -- in ride and handling -- that it is, literally, the best Buick yet. That's Fact No. 1.

And Fact No. 2 proves it: Buick today is more strongly entrenched than ever in the top three of the nation's best sellers -- outselling all other cars in America except two of the well-known smaller cars.

One big reason for this success is the strapping new Buick Special -- like the one pictured here.

It's priced right close to those smaller cars -- but, like every '56 Buick, it's a whole lot more new car for the money.

It cradles a big, new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that's record-high in power and compression, and crammed with engineering news even the costly cars can't claim.

It makes the most of every bit of power with a new version of Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that's the most efficient yet. With a new development the engineers call "double regeneration," Dynaflo gives you great new acceleration from the first thrifty inch of pedal pressure. Even before you switch the pitch.

And this '56 Buick cushions you in the softest ride ever. Shows an uncanny sense of direction on every curve and turn. Puts a whole new feeling of safety, security and solidity into every mile you drive.

So before you buy any car -- catch up on the latest news. Come try a '56 Buick. When you see how much new automobile your money can buy, we don't think you'll ever settle for less.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century -- optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
